Foreword

The corridors are empty now, and there is a swirling mist where onee the seekers of knowledge trod. But if we close our eyes and hum the strains of our Alma Mater, the fog glides away, and onee again we're right in the middle of that rollicking, rushing, roaring, rapturous year of 1960-61. If we concentrate a little harder, we ean picture the seene of that football game we almost won, or the mad seramble on the morning of mid-term exams, or the wonderful magic and romanee of the spring dance, or the thousand and one classroom experiences which instructed us, moved us, or entertained us.

Ah, such wonderful dreams they are! But we hope to make our dreams come true, for almost as wonderful as a memory is a picture.

The Carillon this year is a colleetion of our "dreams", fastened together with the eords of friendship and sprinkled with star dust. We hope that every student has many wonderful memories and will dream along with us as we capture this unforgettable year.

Administration

Morehead High School is proud to have as its principal Mr. Wendell Newlin. Mr. Newlin has always been at hand when a student was in need. He has never hesitated when asked to give of his valuable time to go on some excursion that may turn out to be of use or may not. Mr. Newlin has always proved himself very capable of his position as principal of Morehead High School. He handles problems as they are presented to him with philosophical wisdom.

Working side by side with Mr. Newlin is our fine faculty. The various departments at Morehead are run by highly qualified instructors. They perform their duties of teaching students with deep devotion and many times extend a helping hand beyond the call of duty.

Our school system is headed by an outstanding school board, progressive superintendent, and profluent supervisor who works with Mr. Newlin and the faculty to make Morehead High School the finest ever.

is the most important element in any school composition

School Board

The Leaksville Township School Board is composed of seven members who serve without pay for a four year period and stand election on a stagger system basis.

The board has initiated and is almost finished with a $1,376,000 school-building program. The last phase of the program is the Morehead High School auditorium which is slated for completion in late spring.

The school board has consistently viewed the problems of maintaining a sound school system from an objective standpoint preferring to attack the problems on the basis of need, service to the students and assistance to teachers, principals and other supervisory staffs in the Leaksville Township school system.

They have, as members of the school board, devoted many hours of painstaking planning to enable the school system to keep pace with the fast-moving developments in the fields of science, mathematics, foreign languages and industrial education, since these factors are being emphasized as integral needs by the federal government in its efforts to outdistance dictatorship nations in the race to train a competent population.

Superintendent

John Hough, superintendent of the Leaksville Township school system, is one of 30 American administrators and educators selected to make a trip to Russia last October to examine and observe the Russian system of education—elementary, secondary, primary, and college.

Mr Hough has been administrator of Leaksville Townhsip schools for some 15 years. During his administration, Leaksville Township has undergone a transformation both in organizational set-up and in its education curriculum and administration. The development of the physical facilities of the schools has resulted in expansion and renovation of existing schools and building of new ones. A concerted effort has been made to attract and keep teachers of high academic standing, training, background, and experience in the school system.

Mr. Hough's vitality and awareness of the needs of an educational system in a modern day has placed Leaksville Township in an enviable class in the role of school systems in the United States and has put the stamp of excellence on the overall educational picture in Leaksville Township. His capacity for undertaking forward-looking programs to develop a well balanced school system has attracted state-wide attention and recognition for Leaksville Township and the Tri-Cities.

Principal

Mr. Wendell Newlin, principal of John Motley Morehead High School has been in the system for 15 years. He came to Leaksville as principal of Leaksville Graded School, later taking over the High School in Leaksville. When the modern up-to-date Morehead High was completed, he took over the difficult task of organizing the new school.

Under his capable guidance the high school has grown continuously since the beginning. Mr. Newlin strives daily to mold better citizens for the future.

SUPERVISOR

Mr. Russell Byrd is Classroom Supervisor of the Tri-City schools. He goes about his daily task planning school programs, and looking after the many needs of the teachers and schools He makes it a point to know what is going on at all times in the schools and never misses an opportunity to recognize a good piece of work.

SECRETARY

Mrs. Evelyn Banks, secretary of John Motley Morehead High School, is very efficient and helpful. The school is run much more smoothly because of the ways she carries out her various tasks and duties. Certainly, Morehead High School could not do without her.

We dedicate our Carillon . . . .

Grading the many Office Practice papers.

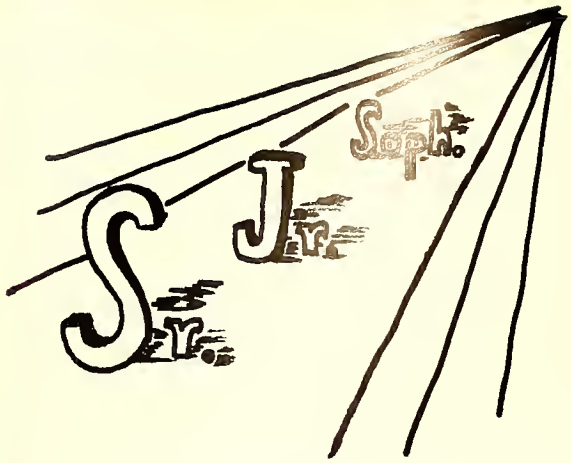
Always thoughtful, kind, and true,
When help is needed, you come through.
Tho' serious when working, you're full of fun;
Never refusing to listen to anyone.

You're a top-rated teacher and a loyal friend,
You give willing assistance and a ready grin.
When there's work to be done, you have no fear;
And problems disolve when you are near.

When the time arrived to choose someone
For this special page, we all thought as one.
Without hesitation, we followed through,
And put aside this page especially for you.

We know you deserve more reward than here;
For your outstanding efforts year after year.
But for doing everything well, you have to do,
We dedicate our annual, Mrs. Citty, to you.

To Mrs. Joan Griggs Citty



Classes

The school year 1960-61 at John Motley Morehead High School has been the realization of many dreams for each of us. For the Sophomores, arrival in senior high school is the fulfillment of a dream held throughout previous school years. Juniors have been dreamy-eyed all year, anticipating Junior-Senior, receiving class rings, and the approaching final year. For the Seniors this year is the grandest dream of all. Achievements in intellectual, social, moral and spiritual goals have been realized, and Seniors are eager to embark into the fascinating world of the future.

Whether we are Seniors, Juniors, or Sophomores, we have shared in our classes dreams which have caught the vision of of learning, the value of true friendship, the realization of individual worth, the necessity for self-discipline, the challenge of teamwork, and hope of democratic freedom. We as classmates have dreamed together while we have worked and while we have played.

and work toward their future goals

MRS. SARAH FERGUSON

At the head of our senior class, advising, directing and supervising is a very wonderful teacher, Mrs. Sara Ferguson. She brings to our senior class meetings a feeling of unity, making everyone want to participate in the many different activities of the Senior year discussed there.

She is head of the Future Teachers of America chapter of Morehead High School. Many students have been inspired to make the rewarding profession of teaching their choice for the future by the example she sets both in the classroom and the meetings. The many trips and activities that are carried on by the organization would not be complete without Mrs. Ferguson being there, either giving moral support, instructing, or helping them have a good time.

There is no one in the senior class who could imagine having a senior dance or party without Mrs. Ferguson to make it complete. Graduation would never be as inspiring nor as significant if she was not there to help the seniors struggle in their marching practices. And on the night of graduation all would be lost without her sincere congratulations.

Mrs. Ferguson truly makes our senior year go around by her wonderful ability to work with students and the contributing of her excellent ideas for the year. The senior class certainly could not do without her.

MRS. JULIA IVIE

Dennis, you are a very good student — if I could just get you to write as well as you talk. — J. Ivie

At the head of the Junior Class is a fine and capable person, Mrs. Julia Ivie. Mrs. Ivie has a very full year directing the many activities of the juniors.

Shortly after the students come back to school in September she has to begin the magazine sale. If all goes well her work is lightened, but as things usually turn out, her task is heavy but it is carried out and completed with success.

Rings and class dues must be figured into her busy schedule but she does every job presented to her with a deep devotion and high spirits.

One of the high lights of Mrs. Ivie's year is the directing of the Junior Senior Dance. Without her careful organization, it could never be a success.

When the Junior year is over Mrs. Ivie has played a major part in preparing the students for the final year of school.

MR. WILLIAM FULCHER

Each and every student in the sophomore class at one time or another has received help from Mr. Fulchur, their sponsor. He is head of each sophomore activity and because of him each one is a success.

When the new students come to Morehead they have a feeling of being lost, unnoticed and unwanted. Mr. Fulcher is always there to help them with their troubles and make them feel a part of the school activities. He shows them the way to become one of the student body by participating in school functions. He starts them "off" in good school spirit and helps them have the right attitude toward the school.

"Will it be finished in time for graduation?" is the question in every senior's mind about the new auditorium that is being built.

"Well, Sue, it was your last chance to be in a picture and you made it!"

Mr. Honeycutt, you'd better watch that little man beside you or he might run out in front of a bus.

"May I have everyone's attention — please."

Well, Miss French, we finally caught you unprepared.

With songs

Our fine glee club has brightened many of our programs at Morehead High School. Their lovely music and song has livened our dull days when we heard them practicing in the band room. Much hard work goes into their performances and Mr. Best has done a wonderful job in directing them. They certainly have a shining future.

Brrr! The autumn wind stings our nose and bites our toes, but the loyal Morehead fans are always there in the stadium on Friday night. Of course the cheers may be a little muffled from the layers of blankets in which everyone is encased, but a more enthusiastic group of Eskimos you've never seen. Naturally we fans are more jubilant if the vitcory is for Morehead, but whether the Panthers meet triumph or disaster, we still retain our pride in the knowing that they gave their best and made it a fair fight.

Along with the sound of sleighbells and the smell of pine boughs comes the basketball season. All we want for Christmas is the championship, and we try to get our letters to Santa off early. The scene for this sport moves to the gymnasium, and the bleachers are filled with cheering students. Cries, of, "Go Morchead!" pervade the air and of course, our peppy cheerleaders are there to spur us on.

After we've waded through mid-term exams, and everyone is beginning to catch spring fever, out come the bats and balls, and it's off to the baseball field. Now the boys must take more exercises, for swinging a bat and hurling a baseball require a new and different set of muscles.

We note with pride that the Panthers of Morehead are quite versatile. We find them in the football stadium, on the basketball court, and on the baseball field. The names and faces of the players and fans change somewhat from year to year, but one thing never changes, that old sense of fair play and team spirit known as good sportsmanship which continues throughout every class at Morehead.

DAL GWYNN

NORTHWEST

The first game of the season for the Panthers ended in a 6-6 deadlock. Dal Gwynn scored and played an outstanding game. The Panthers threatened several times but could not seem to score.

ASHEBORO

Our boys played their very best game against Asheboro. In the first quarter Morehead scored seven and Asheboro scored only six in the last of the third quarter. Until the last quarter we held a one-point lead, then Asheboro scored two points for a safety making the final score 8-7. Joey Tolbert played an outstanding game to help the Panthers.

CLARENCE ROGERS

REIDSVILLE

Everyone waits anxiously each year for the game with the Golden Lions of Reidsville, our biggest rival. This year we all went to the game hoping to gain a victory, for our Panthers, realizing our wishes, fought with all their might to win the game 13-7. Clarence Rogers was praised for his fine playing.

PAGE

October 7 was to be an exciting day at Morehead. The Homecoming Parade was long and exciting, but evidently it was too much for our boys. The game with a score of 13-0 in favor of Page put everyone in a sad mood, but the Homecoming dance tended to give the day a happy ending. Wayne Noles and Russell Hatcher were doing their best to score but Page would not give them a chance.

BESSEMER

Playing a hard game at Morehead Stadium against Bessemer, the Panthers were able to end the game with a win of 6-0. The Panthers scored in the last two minutes of the game. Dal Gwynn was the one who broke through the line and made the touchdown.

CORNELIUS HOWLETT

DANVILLE

Halloween came on October 28 at Danville to the Panthers, for George Washington High School pulled all the tricks to win 21-0. Cornelius Howlett was in there for Morehead to the end.

GRAY

The last game of the season saw the Panthers go down to defeat. The Greyhounds were too much for the Panthers. The score ended 45-7, with Ken Robertson's touchdown to aid Morehead.

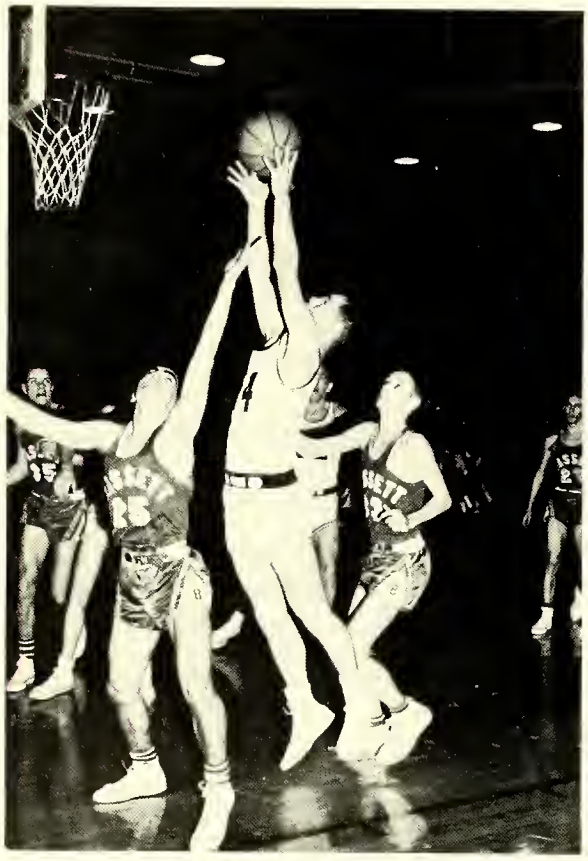
Excitement for all as Kenny Land goes up for a rebound in a tense moment during the game.

Boys on the Junior Varsity team practice for a coming game.

Although the other team gets the ball and tries to run to score, they seldom get far when a Black Panther steps in for the tackle.

Billy Duckett secures the ball amid a mass of grasping hands to gain the ball for Morehead.



Russel Hatcher, jumping high, keeps the ball out of the reach of the Bassett team.

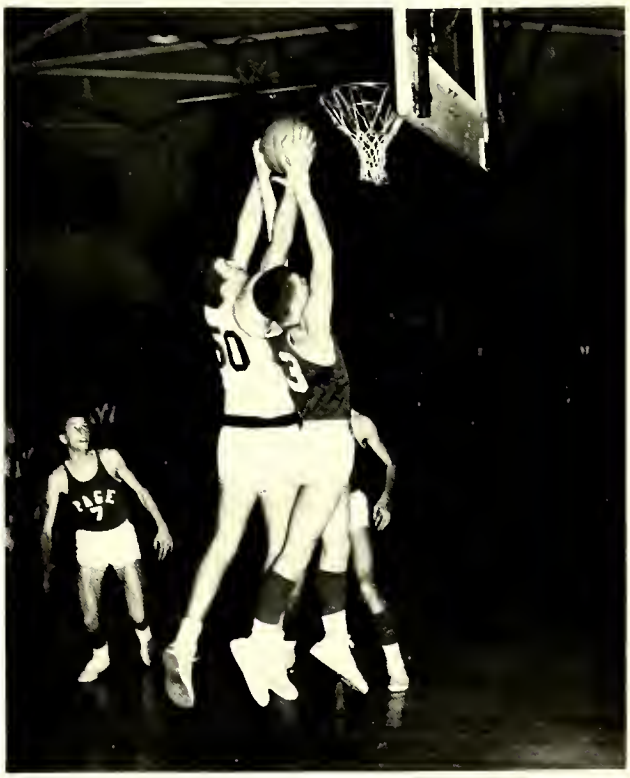
Fast and agile players form the Morehead team. To prove this fact number 66, Russell Hatcher, out runs the opposing team to gain the much needed yardage.

Action! Action! This may seem like just a tussel but the Black Panthers are struggling for another victory.

Mr. J. C. Honeycutt explains the good and bad points of the first half of the game and shows them the way to victory.

Although game shots are exciting none realize the hours of unexciting and hard practice that lie behind each one.

Amid cheering crowds Kenny Land goes up for a rebound as the other players move in for action.



Tony Tilley jumps with an opposing player to secure the ball for the Black Panthers.

Activities

Although we're dreaming now, we certainly didn't have time for that not so long ago when we were struggling through all our various activities. As we review some of our projects, our eyes widen with amazement, and we wonder how we ever crammed so much into one short year.

Just thinking of the time spent pounding on doors while selling candy or magazines makes our feet ache. The recollection of having writer's cramp from our detailed correspondence in preparation for College Day and Career Day, and our zealous activity with thumb tacks and bulletin boards for Open House is not forgotten either. And then came the Science Fair and our conversion into Albert Einstein for a week. Still vivid in our memory is the picture of the Home Coming game, and the coronation of our queen. At last came the glorious climax—the Junior-Senior for the upper-classmen, and the Sophomore Social for the younger set.

Ah, what a glorious year! We linger wistfully here, wishing we could relive some of these wonderful occasions, but extremely glad that we can still hold them in dreams.

we wonder how we ever crammed so much into one short year.

Just thinking of the time spent pounding on doors while selling can sales, make our year go around!

We stepped into misty mist of the mysterious past

In brilliant oranges, greens, blues, and purples the murals brightened the Junior-Senior Dance. Here the Prince brings to his Princess, who is ill, a magic apple to cure her. She is restored to health and they live happily.

The ivory-skinned girls of the rich and spicy fabled Orient come to life in the form of the sophomore waitresses, Sandra Proffitt, Karen Sapp, Ann Matthews, Gail Shelton, Meryle Minter, Anne Morgan, Ann Thomas, Inajo Singleton, Carlotta Duckett, and Lucy Grogan.

ARABIAN

In the mysterious atmosphere of the fora with a blue light shining on a small fountain the receiving line greets the guests as they enter.

Hands up in amazement the princess watches the bird of wisdom fly from his cage while strange sounds surround her and babbling streams and singing trees add to the tumult.

as we entered our Junior Senior dance

Amid the atmosphere of rare perfumes mingled with the pungent odors of spices the members of the grand march go steadily on to the music of the orchestra.

NIGHTS

Aladdin watches in wonder as the tremendous Genie of the lamp appears in the cave of jewels.

The Sultan, convinced that all women are false and faithless, vowed to put each wife to death after the first nuptial night. Schehorazade saved her life by spinning the fascinating tales of the "Arabian Nights."

Among the glowing colors and brilliant and exotic scenes Mr. Hough, Mr. and Mrs. Morehead greet the guests attending the dance.

Home

In one of the many cars in the homecoming parade rode the Morehead Majorettes.

The homecoming queen, Gail Fagge, and nominees, Carol Marlowe, Hughie Anderson, and Karen Bouldin.

Seated in front of the Black Panther, painted by Kenny Land, are the Morehead cheerleaders.

Coming!

All was confusion a few minutes before the Homecoming Parade was to begin.

Alumni enjoy refreshments served by the J. V. cheerleaders.

Riding in the car sponsored by Room 41, are the color guards of the Morehead band.

This is an example of one fo the many beautifully decorated cars driven in the Homecoming Parade.

Advertisements

Bright and beautiful have been the dreams contained in the Carillon this year, but we must remember that such blissful thoughts do not come without the aid of the sandman. So let us awake long enough to smile and thank our friends for helping to preserve some of the best-loved moments of our lives.

As we awake let us realize that much of the Carillon was financed by the advertisements given by our many hometown merchants. As we look through this last section let us notice these advertisements and take our trade to the respective businesses.

Dear,
It has been a nice
knowing you as a

Dennis,
It has been a pleasure having you in your English class. I hope we will have some classes together next year. You have very imaginative mind and a good speaker, develope them.

Dennis,
It has been a pleasure having you in your class. It looks like many years we get in at least one class together. Best of luck to a real nice friend.

Your friend,
Howard Moore

Dennis,
This certainly has been one year, hasn't it? We have all had some pretty nice times debating. Best of luck to a deserving young man.
